Hear Ye! BookDoc, MANSA sign MoU

Last update: 18/05/2018

PETALING JAYA, May 18 (Bernama) – To raise awareness of hearing loss and connect people with qualified audiologists, the Malaysian National Society of Audiologists (MANSA) has signed a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with online healthcare

BookDoc also has the Malaysian Physiotherapists Association and Association of Chiropractic Malaysia signed up with it and benefiting from the company's presence in Malaysia, Singapore, Hong Kong, Thailand and Indonesia.

In a statement, BookDoc founder, Datuk Chevy Beh said the tie-up would help people find legitimate audiologists.

"This collaboration is in line with BookDoc's goal to enhance access to healthcare in the region. The public will be able to find qualified practitioners in the field of audiology who have been certified by MANSA," Beh said.

"We are pleased to be collaborating with BookDoc, a platform that reaches over half a million users," said MANSA president, Patrick Tan, adding that educational articles on hearing loss would be put out to help those struggling with hearing impairment.

He noted that the public was not aware that there were government agencies and non-governmental organisations that could assist in subsidising hearing aids, so the audiologists could assist them on this process.
